“Fen Digital’s expertise has not only given us more exposure via the profiles they have designed for us, they have also helped to boost the rankings of our own pages – and all handled in a professional and speedy manner. We will continue use Fen’s services indefinitely as we move forward with our site.”

Stone Executive

<http://www.stoneexecutive.co.uk/>

“I instructed Fen Digital towards the beginning of 2009 to undertake our company SEO work, having previously worked with other SEO companies that simply failed to deliver. Stone Executive operates at very senior levels of executive recruitment across a number of industry and functional business sectors. Fen Digital’s brief was to improve our website profile in terms of SEO visibility, and also, in terms of individual specific industry sectors we wanted to create further exposure and reinforce our brand name.

I have to say that within a number of months our profile within these specific industry sectors started to dramatically increase throughout the search rankings to the extent where we appear in very prominent positions on Google first page. Our website has generated considerable leads as a result of Fen Digital’s involvement and contributed towards better quality leads and increased productivity.

I would, without hesitation, recommend Fen Digital and have no desire to work with anybody else.”

“I contacted John at Fen Digital just over a year ago to help me with the optimisation of my web site, and after seeing the results it has brought me over the last year, my business has been going from strength to strength.

I am now able to rely almost entirely on the customers that find me through my Top 100 profile on Oak Reproduction Furniture.

I have found John Waddington, who I deal with face to face most helpful on all occasions when I have had any queries or small changes to make. I would just like to say thank you for what I feel is a great value for money service.”
